DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1, 4-10, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification, as originally filed, lacks antecedent basis for the compression molded segment seal portion being formed "without distorting said ribs of said first and second profile strips outside of said fused section". There is nothing in the applicant's original written specification and drawings to indicate that such a seal was necessarily intended or achieved. Furthermore, the specification, as originally filed, lacks antecedent basis for the compression molded segment seal portion being formed "without further filling material or plastic". Applicant's original written disclosure does not explicitly require the ribs to exclusively have the configuration depicted in applicant's original drawings. Nor does applicant's original written disclosure preclude profiles having ribs with alternative configurations. This is a new matter rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 4-10, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,033,113 to Anderson.

Anderson meets the recitations “said first profile strip being substantially flat but having at least one rib”, “said second strip being substantially flat but having at least two ribs” and “said compression molded segment seal including a fused section of said first and second profile strips formed through the application of heat and pressure without further filling material or plastic” to the same degree applicant defines the structure of the ribs. Applicant’s claims do not preclude the embodiment of Anderson in Fig. 5, which shows the fillet 60 to be integral with the ribs of the profile.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant’s arguments filed 07/25/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant’s argument that compression molding was well-known in the prior art does not overcome the lack of antecedent basis for the compression molded segment seal portion being formed "without distorting said ribs of said first and second profile strips outside of said fused section" as discussed above.

Applicant's argument that the recitations "said first profile strip being substantially flat but having at least one rib", "said second strip being substantially flat but having at least two ribs" and "said compression molded segment seal including a fused section of said first and second profile strips formed through the application of heat and pressure without further filling material or plastic" overcome Anderson is not convincing for the reasons discussed above.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
